MG4127 - John Peters Humphrey Fonds

1929 -1995. - 7.00 m. of textual records.

Biographical Sketch:

Born in Hampton, New Brunswick on April 30, 1905, John Humphrey was educated at Mount Allison and McGill University. He married Jeanne Godreau in 1929 and after her death, married Dr. Margaret Kunstler in 1981. Humphrey had one brother, Douglas, and a sister, Ruth. His cousin, Jack Humphrey, became a prominent Canadian painter. After a career in private legal practice in Montreal with Wainwright, Elder, and MacDougall, Humphrey joined the McGill teaching staff in 1936 as a sessional lecturer in the Faculty of Law and became the Gale Professor of Law in 1946. Although named as McGill's Dean of Law in 1946 he never served in that function; instead, he was drafted by the United Nations to become the first director of the Human Rights Division of the United Nations. On leave from McGill, Humphrey served in his United Nations post until 1966. The author of the first draft of the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Humphrey was a key player behind the United Nations approval of the declaration in 1948. During his tenure as director Humphrey pursued such human rights issues as the situation of women, freedom of the press, and racial discrimination. After his distinguished career with the United Nations, Humphrey returned to teach in McGill's Faculty of Law and continued his advocacy of human rights issues and causes.

Humphrey became an internationally renowned authority on human rights who spoke and wrote frequently on this subject throughout his life. Instrumental in the founding of the Canadian Human Rights Foundation and the Canadian Section of Amnesty International, he also served as president of both organisations. He was a member of the Royal Commission on the Status of Women in Canada and also lobbied extensively for such diverse causes as rights for imprisoned Greek lawyers, Canadian Hong Kong veterans, and Korean "comfort women," or survivors of the Japanese military system of sexual slavery during the Second World War. Humphrey was the author of numerous articles on international politics and legal subjects and the author of two books on the subject of human rights: Human Rights and the United Nations: A Great Adventure, published in 1984, and No Distant Millennium: The International Law of Human Rights, published in 1989.

Humphrey's energetic commitment to various organisations dedicated to human rights and world peace has been acknowledged by numerous honours and awards, including the United Nations Award for outstanding achievement in human rights, Officer of the Order of Canada, and the National Order of Quebec, World Legal Scholar Award, and World Federalists of Canada Peace Prize Award. Recognised as a pioneering figure in the field of human rights in the post-World War II era, John P. Humphrey died on March 14, 1995.

Fourth Diary. - September 13, 1949 - February 26, 1950. - 3 cm. - handwritten. - English.

File contains a daily diary by John Humphrey. The fourth diary continues with Humphrey's holidays in Chester, Nova Scotia. The main portion of the diary covers Humphrey's activity in the United Nations providing support for the Committees of the General Assembly and the Human Rights Commission, recruitment to the Division, discussion on freedom of information, International Refugee Organization, trade union rights and Humphrey's membership on a special Board of Inquiry.

Container 20, File 405

Fifth Diary. - February 27, 1950 - July 12, 1950. - 3 cm - handwritten. - English.

File contains a daily diary by- John Humphrey. The fifth diary starts with Humphrey's involvement in the United Nations Economic and Social Council and meeting of the Human Rights Commission, and continues with his travels to meeting about the freedom of information and the press held in Uruguay. From Uruguay, Humphrey with his wife sailed through Santos to Montevideo, where they spent three weeks of May. Humphrey then took a ten days holiday with his wife in Buenos Aires, where the contrast between the wealth and military presence and suppression of freedom of information, was very apparent. At the end of June, Humphrey attended Economic and Social Council meetings and the Third Committee of the General Assembly in Geneva.

Container 20, File 406

Sixth Diary. - July 13, 1950 - October 25, 1950. - 3 cm. - handwritten. - English.

File contains a daily diary by John Humphrey. The sixth diary continues with the meeting of the United Nations Economic and Social Council, the Third Committee of the General Assembly and the Ad Hoc Committee on Statelessness in Geneva. Humphrey's holidays in Northern Italy were followed by a trip to Paris, where he is involved in the publicity of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights with UNESCO. Upon his return to a new headquarters of the United Nations, he discovers to his disappointment, that Henri Laugier, his friend and superior, will no longer serve the United Nations.

Container 20, File 407

Seventh Diary. - October 26, 1950 - March 2, 1951. - 3 cm. - handwritten. - English.

File contains a daily diary by John Humphrey. The seventh diary is set in New York dealing with meetings of the United Nations Third Committee of the General Assembly on the International Covenant on Human Rights. The diary notes that the situation in the Secretariat is difficult. Humphrey traveled to Santiago for the Economic and Social Council's spring session. On his way to Chile, he visited his friend, Emile Vaillancourt, a Canadian Ambassador in Peru.

Container 20, File 408

Eighth Diary. - March 3, 1951 - July 14, 1951. - 3 cm. - handwritten. - English.

File contains a daily diary by John Humphrey. The eighth diary begins with the ending of the V' spring sessions of the United Nations Economic and Social Council, and the Human Rights Commission in Santiago. After Humphrey's return to New York, he traveled to Europe and visited Geneva (where Charles Malik replaced Eleanor Roosevelt as a Chairman of the Human Rights Commission) and Germany (where he concentrated on the issue of compensation the survivors of medical experiments during the war). Before going back to Geneva to participate on the Conference on Refugees and Stateless Persons, Humphrey and his wife took holidays in Spain.

Container 20, File 409

Ninth Diary. - July 15, 1951 - November 7, 1951. - 3 cm - handwritten. - English.

File contains a daily diary by John Humphrey. The ninth diary concludes the United Nations Conference on Refugees and Stateless Persons and sessions of the Economic and Social Council and the Third Committee of the General Assembly. At the end of August, Guillaume Georges-Picot is appointed the Assistant Secretary-General for Foreign Affairs (replacing Henri Laugier). Humphrey and his wife met Picasso during their five day visit with Henri Laugier in Antibes. At the end of September, the Humphreys left for their three week trip to Spain, after which Humphrey returned to Paris to attend a series of meetings of the Executive Board of UNESCO.

Container 20, File 410

Tenth Diary. - November 8, 1951 - February 18, 1953. - 3 cm. - handwritten. - English.

File contains a daily diary by John Humphrey. The diary begins with the completion of the Executive Board of UNESCO meetings, and continues with the opening of the Third and the Fifth Committees of the General Assembly in Paris. The Humphreys spent their Christmas in Cannes, and on December 29 they returned back to Paris. The next day they continued to London, where, on New Year's Day, Humphrey had a speech before the Council for Education in World Citizenship.

Container 20, File 411

Eleventh Diary. - May 1, 1953 - January 26, 1955. - 3 cm. - handwritten. - English.

File contains a daily diary by John Humphrey. The appointment of Dag Hammarskjöld to the position of the United Nations Secretary-General at first pleases Humphrey. He is soon aware of the Secretary-General's goals of reducing the Secretariat's manpower, especially in the human rights program. With the absence of Georges-Picot, Humphrey assumes the roles of Acting Top Ranking Director and Acting Assistant Secretary-General of the Social Department, where he is involved in the reorganization plan. In the end, the Social Department is combined with the Department of Economic Affairs, which dissatisfies Humphrey. The Division continues to support United Nations projects, especially pertaining to human rights, with diminishing resources.

Container 20, File 412

Twelfth Diary. - January 29, 1955 - September 23, 1955. - 3 cm. - handwritten. - English.

File contains a daily diary by John Humphrey. The twelfth diary starts with the Humphrey's vacation in the West Indies and his trip to Geneva for the Non-Governmental Organizations Conference on Discrimination in the Human Rights Commission. Upon returning to New York, Humphrey had his first encounter with Dag Hammarskjöld concerning the human rights program, but the Secretary-General firmly maintains his decision to reduce resources. Humphrey was required to defend these measures at the Economic and Social Council meeting in Geneva. He then attended the Friends Diplomatic Conference in Clarendon.

Container 20, File 413

Thirteenth Diary. - September 26, 1955 - [August 21, 1957]. - 3 cm. - handwritten. - English.

File contains a daily diary by John Humphrey. The thirteenth diary begins in New York with the debates of the United Nations Third Committee on the human rights covenants and self-determination of peoples. A comprehensive resolution on advisory services is approved by the Third Committee, which gave the Human Rights Division a new direction with a seminar program. The first part of 1956 includes a vacation in New West Indies, and reorganization of the Division. The diary was interrupted for three months from May to August. It resumed in Geneva for the Slavery Conference. It was again interrupted from October 1956 to February 1957. It resumed with Humphrey's visit to several countries to implement the seminar program.

Container 20, File 414

Fourteenth Diary. - September 12, [1957] - February 3, [1959]. - 3 cm - handwritten. - English.

File contains a daily diary (with gaps) by John Humphrey. The fourteenth diary begins with discussions concerning a conference on human rights in the Philippines attended by John Humphrey. The diary continues with Humphrey's views on the transfer of ultimate responsibility for the division on human rights from Philippe de Seyres to Sir Humphrey Trevelyan. Humphrey also records his travels to South America where he attended a human rights conference and laid the groundwork for the setting up of more seminars in the future. After meetings with Trevelyan in Geneva he returns to New York where he discovers that Trevelyan will resign. Humphrey then travels to Canada for celebrations on the tenth anniversary of the Universal Declaration on Human Rights.

Container 20, File 415

Fifteenth Diary. - June 8, 1960 - October 3, [1960], November 16, 1964 - April 27, [1966] with other gaps. - 3 cm. - handwritten. - English and French.

File contains a daily dairy by John Humphrey. In the fifteenth diary Humphrey records his voyage to Vienna to open a seminar on Human Rights and to Geneva for United Nations committee meetings. In 1964, he comments on current political problems such as Vietnam and takes a holiday in St. Vincent. In 1965, he attends human rights conferences in Iran and Mongolia and visits Hungary and Yugoslavia. The diary ends with his retirement from the United Nations and his move to Montreal.

Container 20, File 416

Sixteenth Diary. - 1989-1994. - 3 cm. - handwritten. - English.

Diary is closed until the year 2011.

John P. Humphrey, 1905-1995.

Biographical Note:

John Peters Humphrey was born in Hampton, New Brunswick on April 30 1905, and educated at Mount Allison and McGill University. He was married twice, first to Jeanne Godreau in 1929, and to Dr. Margaret Kunstler-Humphrey in 1981. Humphrey joined the McGill teaching staff in 1936 as a sessional lecturer in the Faculty of Law and became the Gale Professor of Law in 1946. Although named as McGill's Dean of Law in 1946 he never served in that function, leaving instead to join the United Nations as the first director of the Human Rights Division of the United Nations. He held this post until 1966.

The author of the first draft of the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Humphrey was a key player behind the United Nation's approval of the declaration in 1948. During his tenure as Director, Humphrey pursued such human rights issues as the status of women, freedom of the press, and racial discrimination. After his distinguished career with the United Nations Humphrey returned to teach in McGill's Faculty of Law and continued his advocacy of human rights issues and causes.

Humphrey became an internationally recognized authority on human rights, speaking and writing on these issues throughout his life. He was instrumental in the founding of the Canadian Human Rights Foundation and the Canadian Section of Amnesty International, and served as president of both organizations. He was also a member of the Royal Commission on the Status of Women in Canada and participated in campaigns around such diverse causes as rights for imprisoned Greek lawyers, Canadian Hong Kong veterans, and Korean comfort women.

He was author of numerous publications on international politics, legal issues, and human rights, including two books: Human Rights and the United Nations: A Great Adventure (1984), and No Distant Millennium (1989). He was also the author of unpublished literary manuscripts, a short story and a novel.

Numerous honours and awards, including the National Order of Quebec, The World Legal Scholar Award, and the Order of Canada, have acknowledged Humphrey's energetic commitment to human rights and world peace.

John Peters Humphrey, a key figure in Canadian legal history and a pioneer in the human rights legislation in the post 1945 era died on March 14, 1995.

Scope and Content Note:

Accession 02-086; 7.5 metres (18 boxes: 7 standard, 11 oversize); 1905-2001
Approximately 213 photographs, 2 portraits; audiovisual; artifacts; 3 metres textual.

Personal and professional papers of John Peters Humphrey, lawyer, McGill University law professor, first Director of the United Nations Human Rights Division and author of the first draft of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, 1895-1995.

Includes correspondence 1906-1995 (predominant is Humphrey's correspondence with his sister Ruth 1918-1972, family correspondence, and some U.N. communications); Humphrey's speeches 1947-1993, and publications 1912-1993; teaching notes for McGill University law courses (International, Public and Roman Laws) 1937-1946, 1967-1994; audio-visual materials include interviews with Humphrey 1961-1998; awards, diplomas, honours 1966-1991; photographs 1895-c. 1980 include family images but predominantly reflect formal events with the United Nations and Humphrey's international career. Also included are two Jori Smith portraits of Humphrey c. 1934 and c. 1939. Among his unpublished manuscripts included in this accession are "My Great Adventure" and "At the Border". Note that "My Great Adventure" written between 1985 and 1990 includes reminiscences of a personal nature about his life prior to joining the U.N. and is not to be confused with Humphrey's published work A Great Adventure.

The accession includes reflections and descriptions of Humphrey's years in school and in the United Nations through personal and professional correspondence, speeches, drafts of his publications as well as unpublished works. Also included are Humphrey's awards, teaching/research notes (law), various documents relating to post-U.N. work in human rights, some genealogical material and other personal miscellany. Most photographs relate to Humphrey's work with the United Nations.

Notes on Arrangement:

Accession listing reflects the arrangement of the materials upon transfer to the MUA. Arrangement is generally by type (i.e. textual, photograph, audiovisual etc.) with some content groupings (e.g. correspondence between John P. Humphrey and his sister Ruth; material pertaining to Japanese post-war compensation, etc.). Some textual materials files (correspondence) include photographs, which are indicated by "(+ photo)" following the file title. The photographs are listed in separately numbered files – awards are in boxes 6, 8 & 9, wrapped in tissue with identification indicated on the wrapping.
